

The Indian equity markets witnessed a strong rebound in March, with the benchmark index surging over 6%. This marks a significant shift from the bearish trends observed in recent quarters, signaling renewed optimism. The Nifty's ability to reclaim the 23,500 level and sustain stability over the past week underscores a constructive outlook and the potential for further upside.

Rollover data for the March series stood at 76%, falling below the three-month average, with a notable reduction in outstanding contracts from the previous series. This suggests that short positions were unwound ahead of the new series. Notably, after five consecutive series of relentless selling, Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) turned net buyers in March, purchasing ₹2,014 crore in February. While the quantum remains modest, it indicates a pause in their selling spree which is a positive development. Meanwhile, Domestic Institutional Investors (DIIs) continued to provide strong support, with net purchases amounting to ₹37,576 crore. Another encouraging sign is the improvement in the Long-Short Ratio for index futures, which climbed from 15% at the start of the series to 35% by the end. Given the recent market resilience and renewed FII interest, sentiment remains optimistic. Looking ahead, the 23,800-23,850 zone presents a key resistance level, and a decisive breakout above this range could fuel further momentum. On the downside, the 23,300-23,200 range serves as an immediate support zone.
