Fintech platform Angel One launches phase 1 of its Super App for limited users

Mumbai, 1 June 2022: Commencing its journey to expand its product and services bouquet, Fintech company Angel One (formerly known as Angel Broking Limited) announced the launch of its Super App, for limited users. The company has launched the Web and iOS version, while its android version - already live in beta - will be formally launch over the next few weeks.

The Super App, is a powerful web and mobile platform built on the principles of simplicity, reliability, availability, swiftness and transparency. The app has undergone rigorous testing during its beta program and received encouraging feedback. The current version of the app will offer broking services, and over the year different product offerings will be integrated on the platform, thus expanding Angel One's product and service portfolio.

Angel One leverages new-age technologies like AI, ML, and data science to create best-in-class digital solutions that improve the overall customer experience by enhancing reliability, improving navigation, reducing errors, and scaling up during high traffic periods.
